

Joe, do you know?

Mr. President,

You've said climate change is "the number one issue facing humanity. And it's the number one issue for me." You may not be aware that a little-known case that the Supreme Court recently added to its docket could radically limit states' ability to address this critical issue.

Industry interests are attempting to overturn California's Proposition 12. President Trump took the side of stripping states of their ability to pass such laws, but we know that's not who you are.

Hundreds of nonprofits fighting climate change and those advocating for union and farm worker protection, family farmer support, public health and food safety, and animal welfare have called on you to protect Proposition 12, as have more than 100 members of Congress and governors.

Will you stand with us? We need your help. #ProtectProp12
